

The internet provides equal access and a blind platform for fair divisions of assets

How does it work?

- ☑ List all assets to be divided online, and assign values, estimated or appraised (or use the On-Site Listing Services)
- ☑ Invite parties to the division and assign their entitled percentage of the total estate
- ☑ A fair division process is applied to allocate assets to beneficiaries, combining emotional and monetary values
- ☑ Each party's share of the personal property and other assets is allocated and tracked with reports

Being in the same room or walking through a home deciding who gets what puts unnecessary emotional strain on an already challenging situation

Divorcing Parties Often Want All Items

Reduce the conflict and feelings of inequity in a divorce by impartially listing, valuing and dividing the assets online. Challenges of valuing items, or selecting assets in person can be reduced with the FairSplit impartial online personal property division system. Divide furniture, art, linens or even holiday vacation days with the children with neither party having an advantage. Get creative and use the impartial platform to divide fairly and peacefully.

How can FairSplit help with my Divorce Division?

FairSplit is most often used to list and divide items accumulated over the years of a marriage like furniture, art and household items, but can also be used on all assets and liabilities' assignments. Dividing major items are often determined by the rules of your state, or mutual agreement, like a house, retirement funds, debt, child support, spousal support, etc. For other items, FairSplit is a blind system, making it fair to both parties. Some key features our software offers:

- ☑ Easy to add photos and appraisals
- ☑ Quick creation of household items list, and other assets and liabilities lists
- ☑ Both parties and their representatives may access the list to validate
- ☑ Methods of division are determined by goals and concerns of both parties but include known division methods like selection order for alternating selection with an Emotional Value round used for the charged items initially
- ☑ Printable reports

We Can Do Your On Site Asset Photography, Listing and Valuing

Several FairSplit tools are available to allow "do it yourself" listing of assets that ease the challenge of preparing an estate to divide. It can however be an overwhelming undertaking, so FairSplit has set up a nationwide network of agents to photograph the assets room by room, list and impartially value, leaving only editing for the Executor or Trustee before a division takes place.
